

Evolutionary Psychiatry: From Theory To Therapy

A Symposium hosted by the Institute of Evolutionary Medicine

Monday 15th May

Room 21 F 65 (Theatersaal), Irchel Campus, University of Zurich, Switzerland, or register on Zoom at:

<https://uzh.zoom.us/meeting/register/u5MkduiupzpkGN0qYB-wXpKq7OY12b80XdVc>

Central European Time (CET) Schedule:

- | | |
|---------------|--|
| 12:45 - 13:00 | Adam Hunt & Adrian Jaeggi (University of Zurich): Introduction |
| 13:00 - 13:30 | Ed Hagen (Washington State University): Major Depression is not a brain disorder and pretending it is warps mental health research |
| 13:30 - 14:00 | Kristen Syme (Leiden University): Conflict and Bargaining in Micronesia: with implications for mental health and suicide |
| 14:00 - 14:15 | Coffee break |
| 14:15 - 14:45 | Brandon Kohrt (George Washington University): Why we heal: Insights from evolutionary psychiatry to understand motivation among mental healthcare providers (virtual) |
| 14:45 - 15:15 | Amber Thalmayer (University of Zurich): Assessing Mental Health in Sub-Saharan Africa: Etic and emic approaches for comparison and contextualisation |
| 15:15 - 15:45 | Coffee break |
| 15:45 - 16:15 | Alfonso Troisi (University of Rome): Therapeutic relevance of evolutionary psychiatry |
| 16:15 - 17:15 | Riadh Abed (Royal College of Psychiatrists): Evolution is the missing framework for clinical psychiatry (Keynote) |
| 17:15 - 17:45 | Marco Del Giudice (University of New Mexico): Discussion (virtual) |

